SATURDAY MORNING, APRIL 7, 1855.

A Fearful Accident.

A fearful accident occurred on the Michigan Southern Railroad, on Thursday last, by which a number of persons were killed and wounded. The train was composed of seven cars, and was filled with passengers, many of whom were returning from the Easter holidays. The train was going at the rate of about thirty miles an hour, when the forward truck of the fifth car broke down, and the car was thrown from the track. The car was filled with passengers, and the shock was terrible. Those in the car were thrown violently from their seats, and the cries of the wounded and dying were heart-rending. The car was literally torn to pieces, and the wonder is that any escaped with their lives. The cars behind the one that was thrown from the track were also thrown off, but not with such violence as to cause any injury to the passengers in them. The following is a list of the killed and wounded, as far as we have been able to ascertain:

We present below a Directory of the various places of worship in the city, with the time of holding services in each. If however, it contains any errors, or omits any places of worship, we shall be glad to have our attention called to the matter by the Secretaries of the various societies, or by any other person, that the Directory may be corrected. We shall publish it from time to time, as occasion may require.

NEW BUILDINGS.

In every part of our city, we see to be seen buildings of the progress of improvement in the erection of new buildings. The old wooden tenements at the north east corner of Washington and Dearborn streets, was removed day before yesterday. A block of first class brick houses will be immediately erected there. Lower down on Dearborn street, eight large and commodious buildings are now in course of erection, and adjoining Lovell & Loomis' livery stable, a block of splendid stores five stories high, with a front of Athens' cut stone, will be built, at a cost of $20,000. W. W. Boyington, Esq., is the architect.

On Franklin street, between Lake and Randolph, Dr. Quinlan will build two, brick houses of the most elaborate finish. They are to be 20 feet front, 70 feet deep, and four stories high. The fronts will be of brown mastic with iron dressings. Several other buildings will be soon contracted for on the same street.

On the North side, Wm. B. Ogden, Esq., will soon commence the erection of twenty dwelling houses, at a cost of $5,000 each, on a hundred feet front on Ohio street. The aggregate cost is to be 100 feet front on Ohio street. The aggregate cost is to be $50 each. Mr. Ogden has been engaged in the 20 will keep straight their investments, and as no houses are more in demand than dwellings, they will no doubt be all engaged before they are completed.

The number of carpenters employed in Chicago last year was 2000 and a half estimate or thereabouts. There is every indication that the amount similarly expended in the city this year will not fall short of that immense sum.

Alderman Roberts Commenced.

One of the evils with which our city is infested is the practice of some of the hackney coach drivers of soliciting money, among strangers or ignorant travellers. The rate of regular fare which have been perpetrated in this way, have been not only frequent, but glaring and outrageous. In one instance, a gentleman was charged up and fined $3.50. The practice continued, and would have been still continued had it not been for the vigilant measures adopted by Alderman Roberts. A stop has now been put to it therefore which will, we think, do much towards diminishing the evil, if it does not break it up entirely.

The driver of a hackney coach whose name figured in our police report yesterday applied to the Mayor for a renewal of his license. The Mayor informed the man that had been complied with, if by any surprising metamorphosis he should ever do so in future, and on the strength of his promise, his license was granted. Will it be believed that three days after wards, this same man was brought up by the police court on a charge of over charging! Such was the case. The offence was so great and aggravated as any previous one. It was at once determined to make an example of him, and he was fined $10 and costs. Though the prevailing rate is $1.50, Timothy said it still worth $1 $1 and while beans bring $1 75. To-morrow being Easter Sunday, eggs sold readily yesterday at 16c at retail—ten of 12 barrels was sold at that. Potatoes have declined so we are told, and the St. Louis market was glutted on the 4th by the larger quantities shipped by way of the Mississippi and from this direction; nine shillings was all they would bring here yesterday. Hides are quoted higher, 11 to 12c for dry flint, on account of competition in the market.

The Fountains in the Court House Square.

Excavations have been commenced in the Court House Square, for the foundations of the new fountains, which are, to differ from the gushers in the air during the coming summer months. Workmen have been for some time engaged in blasting the stone for the basin, and the whole work is being conducted under the supervision of Henry Fuller, Esq., City Superintendent, who will prosecute it to completion as rapidly as possible.

Sermon on the Liquor Law.

There will be a sermon on the prohibitory liquor law delivered on to-morrow, Sunday evening, at the Christ-street Methodist Church by the pastor.

Counterfeiter Caged.

Mr. Cyrus P. Bradley succeeded in arresting a man named Michael Miles on Thursday night, who had been for some time past engaged in passing counterfeit money. The arrest occurred after Miles had taken his seat in the cars for the West. He had in his possession a large quantity of counterfeit bank notes as well as spurious coin. The Grand Jury found five distinct indictments against him yesterday, and he will probably be tried some time next week.

Forwarding and Commission Business.

We direct attention this morning to the advertisement of Hoe & Co., forwarding and commission merchants, South Water street. This house has very extensive and superior facilities for warehouse, forwarding and commission business, and is well known throughout the country as to always command a large share of the business of this place.

Mr. C. W. Goodrich.

This eminent tragedian played on last evening at our Theatre, as Richard III., and appears to-night as Richelieu. This is the last night he will play here, having only remained here a few days while en route for Pittsburg.

SPRING FASHIONS.

The most elegant and redolvable styles of bonnets and millinery for the Spring can now be seen at W. K. Stone's Fashion Saloon, No 98 Lake street. We direct the attention of those interested to this place. We have examined a portion of his stock which will please. Many of his bonnets are perfect specimens of the way of millinery. The bonnets this season are not so much flared as last; the crown drooping more, and the front is slightly projecting, and very many are covered with dotted lace, either black or white. They are trimmed with a profusion of flowers, intermingled with white and black braids. Flowers are much used in trimming, both inside and out. A very pretty effect is produced by the combination of white and black blonde. Straw colors largely take the composition of bonnets this season, the fruits of many being formed of it, and the fabrications of others receiving additional beauty from the incorporation of flowers of the same glowing material. Mr. Stone exhibits some very exquisite specimens of the above named in our columns.

Small Pox Broke Out.

One of the tugs out of the Canal Lock, at Bridgeport, broke yesterday, and took a car upside in pursuit 5 o'clock; but it will likely be ready for work to-day.

An Impromptu Wedding.

During the progress of the trial of the Sunday liquor sellers, before Judge Rucker, on yesterday afternoon, a messenger entered the room and whispered to the Judge that a couple were in attendance desiring to be married. The Judge accordingly gallantly adjourned the cases and proceeded to the adjoining room, being the office of the County Clerk, where the anxious couple were in waiting. On presenting to the room, we found the man and the maid: The latter unattended (the former attended by a single friend. The man was Dutch; so was the maid. The maid was not remarkable for personal attractions; the man had a dull, unmeaning look; and neither one seemed to hesitate; either by their looks or demeanor, the keen degree of attachment for each other. They gave their names as John Utsch and Minah Ahlong. The Judge proceeded to set before them in a brief and pertinent address, the nature and relative duties of the married state, which the bride seemed to understand, but which the bridegroom listened to in stolid indifference. Finally, the Judge asked the man "John, will you take this woman to be your wife?" Minah nudged John and gave him a significant wink, and John responded, "Yah!" "Will, Minah, do you take this man to be your husband?" Minah promptly answered, "Yah, yah!" and the happy pair being pronounced one flesh, departed with their friend, in Indian file, and without any manifestation of emotion. We record this for each other Take it all in all, it was the most economic wedding we have ever attended.

Struck by Lightning.

That is a fate which will never befall any building if possessed of a good, sharp, lightning rod manufactured by T. P. Felcher at his manufactory on Kinzie street, and which have given him no wide and well deserved a reputation for the excellence of their work. We were shown, also, on yesterday one of the points for lightning rods which he manufactures and which seemed to be a perfect thing. The great point in the manufacture of lightning rods is to have the point perfect, and this one appeared to be faultless. These points are made of solid copper, from 3 to 14 inches long, plated from six to ten inches from the tip with pure silver, and the tip of each point is inserted in it a heavy platina wire, and is also plated a half inch with platina plate. These points when attached to the rod make especially for the business, and used exclusively by this manufacturer, being fully 7-12 square iron fluted and inflated, thus giving a surface of fully 1-3 of an inch, and combining much strength and surface, form one of the most perfect lightning rod and conductor of electricity that we have seen. The tips of the points always remain bright and untarnished, and will attract the sparks from the clouds in the most perfect manner.

Great Western Railroad.

Phin Homan, who for the past six years has been connected with the Michigan Central Railroad, has received the appointment of the Western Agency for the Great Western (Canada) Railway, and can be found at the ticket office of the Michigan Central Railroad, corner of Lake and Dearborn streets. Mr. Homan is a man of the first calibre, and his habits and his intimate knowledge of railroad matters renders the appointment in every way one "fit to be made." Those who have dealings with Mr. Homan will find him courteous, and ever ready to attend to the interests of those who patronize the Great Western line. His numerous friends in this city and neighborhood will be pleased to learn of his appointment.

Meeting of the Board of Trade.

There will be an adjourned meeting of the members of the Board of Trade at their rooms, corner of South Water and Wells streets, on Monday evening April 9th, at 7½ o'clock.

W. W. Mitchell, Sec'y.

Plenty of Wood.

It will be perceived by the list of vessels arrived in another column, that an abundance of wood is arriving both by Lake and Canal, which will have a tendency to cheapen the article in the market.

☞ The propeller Troy, Capt. Warren, arrived safely, yesterday morning, from her first trip to Manitoulin. She brought one million shingles and one hundred cords of wood, had fine weather and reports the Lake clear at Manitoulin.
